

FINTECH FORUM: INNOVATION, REGULATION OR BOTH

Posted on October 18, 2016

Categories: Insights, Events

McMillan is the collaborating sponsor of The Canadian institute's FinTech Forum

The FinTech Forum takes an all-round view of disruption in the financial services industry. By bringing together thought leaders from the different stakeholder groups, the forum presents a balanced discussion of industry challenges and successes.

At the FinTech Forum, experts from across the financial services spectrum will come together to analyze key challenges and opportunities to develop a roadmap forward. Highlights include:

- Debating the best regulatory strategy to foster innovation and protect consumers
- Collectively working towards putting Toronto on the map as a FinTech hub
- Collaboration frameworks for banks and startups to achieve common goals
- Embracing new technology like blockchain and mobile wallets, as well as integrating them into the mainstream
- Allowing FinTech to develop its own standards and solve regulatory challenges through innovation

Tim Murphy will be co-chairing this event.

Learn more about the FinTech Forum here.