

PATENT NUMBERS WARN OF DECLINE IN CANADIAN CHEMICAL INNOVATION

Posted on January 18, 2018

Categories: Insights, Publications

The economic crisis in 2008 undoubtedly had a negative effect on business innovation and research and development at a global scale. Canada was no exception and a tell-tale sign of the impact was a dramatic decrease in patent application filings in Canada in the years immediately after the event.

For the full article click here