

DAVID DEBENHAM INTERVIEWED BY CBC NEWS ON PCL CONSTRUCTORS CANADA FRAUD CASE

Posted on January 13, 2016

Category: News

David Debenham was quoted in CBC Investigates news article: "Ottawa Hospital ex-director 'guest' on PCL luxury fishing trip." In the article, David argues the need for internal mechanisms to be established within organizations to ensure "employees are complying with conflict-of-interest policies," which was not so evident in the case of Frank Medwenitsch, who faces a lawsuit made by the Ottawa Hospital lawyers, who allege ethical breaches occurred during the project bidding process. Read the full article here.

David was also quoted in another CBC News article: "Ottawa Hospital chief operating officer cleared in forensic audit;" click here to read the most recent update on the fraud case. His interview aired on CBC television during the evening newscasts at 6 p.m. and 11 p.m.