McMillan LLP is excited to welcome a new banking and financial services team in our Calgary office. Partners Gary Rose, Glen Peterson, Ben Nuttall and David Fendley, whose banking and finance practice spans Western Canada, will be supported by a team including Associate Adam Palmer, all from an internationally recognized firm.

This new team collectively holds over 80 years of experience working with major Canadian and international banks and financial institutions on corporate commercial lending and financing transactions across many sectors including mining, energy, real estate, and construction.

“We are thrilled to welcome the new banking and financial services team to our Calgary office,” said Greg McIlwain, Calgary Office Management Partner. “We are a proud national full-service business law firm, and we are committed to bolstering our presence in Western Canada. These new additions will elevate our practice and allow us to offer clients the sector expertise and practical business advice they need to stay ahead, both in Alberta and across Canada.”

About McMillan's Financial Services Group

McMillan's Financial Services Group is recognized both nationally and internationally for its depth of expertise and responsiveness, as well as strong cross-border transaction experience. We are on the approved counsel list to the Bank of Canada, all G14 banks and all six large Canadian banks. We are unique in that we have a core bank lending practice that is based on lender clients rather than an add-on group relying upon borrower-side work generated from corporate practice. We have successfully structured financing for all shapes and sizes of deals in the debt and equity spaces and have worked and negotiated with all levels of lenders. Our Group
