McMillan is pleased to announce that Geza Banfai has received the Ontario Bar Association's Award of Excellence in Construction and Infrastructure Law. In its fourth year, this award recognizes outstanding contributions to both the law and the construction bar at large.

Through a rigorous selection process by committee, Geza was chosen for his excellence in a number of areas including construction and construction lien litigation, continuing legal education on construction related issues, mentorship of young lawyers in construction law, and participating in law reform initiatives in the construction law area.

Geza will receive his award at the Ontario Bar Association's Construction and Infrastructure Law Section year-end reception on June 9.

Congratulation to Geza on this significant achievement.
