McMillan is pleased to announce that five of the firm's lawyers are recognized in the 2020 Lexpert/American Lawyer Guide to the Leading 500 Lawyers in Canada. Lawyers are selected for inclusion based on the respect and esteem of their peers. The guide identifies the "Most Frequently Recommended" lawyers, based on peer surveys in approximately 35 practice areas.

Congratulations to:

Geza R. Banfai – Construction Law

Dr. A. Neil Campbell – Competition Law

Georges Dubé – Corporate Finance

David W. Kent – Class Actions and Competition Law

James B. Musgrove – Competition Law

The construction law team in McMillan's Commercial Real Estate Group, acts on behalf of the full range of parties involved in major projects. Recognized as one of the country's premier construction law practices, the team understands the entire construction process, from the RFP and tender process through completion and turnover.

The firm's Competition & Antitrust Group offers a unique national platform, helping clients in virtually every industry navigate the vast maze of regulations. McMillan is highly respected for national and international merger, cartel and other competition matters. The group has also played a leading role in the development of competition law and policy in Canada.

McMillan's Corporate Finance Group delivers an integrated suite of services to help public and private entities structure financially sound business transactions. The group acts on both sides of the deal-making table, and provides multi-faceted and multi-disciplinary advice, regardless of the size or complexity of a proposed mandate.

McMillan's Litigation Group is at the forefront of class actions in Canada. Our lawyers have defended many large and precedent-setting class action proceedings, including the first class action to proceed to trial in Ontario. McMillan lawyers have extensive experience in coordinating the defence of Canadian class actions with other major law firms defending parallel actions in the U.S. and other countries.
