Medical marijuana businesses are booming in Canada and McMillan is quickly emerging as a leader in this industry. In order to cement the firm's presence and expertise in this rapidly evolving industry, Desmond Balakrishnan and James Munro started the firm's first ever Medical Marijuana Industry Group at the tail-end of 2016.

The Medical Marijuana Industry Group is populated with lawyers across many of the firm's practice groups and we can provide value-added advice with respect to: financing, M&A, licensing and regulation, employment law and workplace issues.
