Recognition of McMillan's exceptional work culture continues to roll in. After receiving the nationwide recognition as one of Canada's Top 100 Employers in 2024 by The Globe and Mail, our Toronto office has been named Greater Toronto's Top Employers 2024, for the second year in a row.

"McMillan is a different kind of law firm and an amazing place to work," said Tim Murphy, the CEO and managing partner. "I'm proud to say our firm is committed to providing an inclusive and diverse culture where our people have the support they need to succeed. Our clients benefit from our commitment to mentor the best people who deploy the responsive legal expertise business leaders need to stay ahead."

Now in its 18th year, the Greater Toronto's Top Employers competition recognizes employers with exceptional programs and forward-thinking workplace policies. It is a benchmark within the Greater Toronto Area for workplace best practices, which continues to be more competitive each year.
