Who's Who Legal (WWL), in association with the Global Competition Review (GCR), has recognized McMillan partner Neil Campbell as a Thought Leader in its Canada Competition 2022 guide.

Thought Leaders are nominated by peers and clients, including general counsel and antitrust lawyers in private practice. WWL independently researches nominated lawyers to identify the world's foremost competition lawyers. Thought Leaders are innovative legal practitioners who inspire others by delivering above-and-beyond results in cutting-edge antitrust matters.

WWL states "Neil Campbell is a "fantastic lawyer" who sits "at the top of the lot" in large-scale merger and litigation work. [Neil] comes highly recommended for his extensive experience advising on merger clearances and cartel claims."

This recognition follows Who's Who Legal having named additional McMillan lawyers Joshua Krane; David Kent; Daniel Edmondstone, James Musgrove, Guy Pinsonnault and Francois Tougas among the world's best competition and antitrust practitioners in the 2021 edition of Who's Who Legal: Competition. The guide also recognized Joshua Chad as a Future Leader.

Joshua Krane was quoted to be "a passionate and highly knowledgeable expert in merger control and foreign investment". He is lauded for his "ability to strategise on challenging transactions and articulate arguments extremely well." WWL also quoted that "James Musgrove is "a go-to competition lawyer" who excels in misleading advertising claims, merger clearances and cartel investigations."

McMillan's Competition, Antitrust and Foreign Investment Group is known internationally as an elite team having top-tier experience in both pillars of the practice area: Merger Control and Cartel Defence / Class Actions.
