

COLE SINGLETON

Categories: People, Law Students

Cole Singleton is an articling student at McMillan.

During his legal studies, Cole was involved with the Lakehead Law Students' Society, Law Students' Society of Ontario, and Pro Bono Students Canada. He worked for the Ministry of the Attorney General, serving as a student with the Crown Attorney's Office in Kenora and providing support on complex trials. He also has experience working in entertainment, cannabis, and employment matters, as well as in the not-for-profit conservation space.

Cole holds a JD from Lakehead's Bora Laskin Faculty of Law, graduating as Valedictorian, and holds a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Guelph. He worked at McMillan as a summer student prior to returning to the firm as an articling student.
