

LÉA JAOUICH

Categories: People, Law Students

Léa is delighted to return to McMillan as an articling student, after passing the Québec Bar Exam, and having previously worked at the firm as a law student.

During her studies at University of Montreal's Faculty of Law, Léa had the pleasure to participate in different projects. She developed research capabilities during her implication as a volunteer for Pro Bono Students and perfected her interpersonal and communication skills as a tutor. She also appreciated working in a local business to implement a new Shopify POS system.

Before law school, Léa worked as an actress in various films and television series. This experience allowed her to acquire strong oral communication skills while using her creativity in a demanding artistic environment. She was also capable of maintaining excellent academic results, earning her an Excellence Scholarship at Stanislas College and obtaining her French Baccalaureate with honours.
