

VERONICA RUSSO

Categories: People, Law Students

Veronica Russo is an articling student at McMillan.

As a law student, Veronica helped initiate the Western Legal Innovation Association, a club devoted to streamlining the legal industry. She was also an executive member of the Real Estate Law Association and an academic tutor. In 2021, Veronica was named to the Dean's Honour List for being in the top ten percent of her class. Prior to law school, Veronica led the litigation administration team at a midsize accounting firm. She also has experience working in criminal defence law.

Veronica holds a JD from Western University and a Bachelor of Arts in Psychology from Ryerson University. She worked at McMillan as summer student prior to returning to the firm as an articling student.
