Toronto | Tuesday, November 13, 2018

Time	Description	Speakers
8:30 am – 9:00 am	Registration & Networking Breakfast
9:00 am – 9:30 am	Case Law Update: Recent Significant Privacy Decisions Our annual update on significant privacy decisions over the past 12 months, including a class action update.	Mitch Koczerginski (McMillan LLP) Kristen Pennington (McMillan LLP)
9:30 am – 9:50 am	Artificial Intelligence: Privacy and Cybersecurity Implications New technologies create new opportunities for businesses, but they can also create legal challenges. In this session we will discuss the privacy and cybersecurity implications of AI, including issues that organizations should consider before adopting this new technology.	Lyndsay A. Wasser (McMillan LLP)
9:50 am - 10:15 am	CASL Update: Key Developments While the legislation is colloquially known as “Canada’s Anti-Spam Law” or “CASL” for short, it is important to bear in mind that its full breadth extends far beyond simply regulating “spam”. We will take you through the actual, expansive reach of this important law, explain how it applies to many forms of electronic interaction, and provide the latest on interpretation, guidance and rulings from the CRTC, including how to protect yourself from hefty penalties.	Ryan J. Black (McMillan LLP)
10:15 am - 10:30 am	Question & Answer Period
10:30 am - 10:45 am	Break
10:45 am - 11:15 am	Preparing for PIPEDA’s New Breach Recording and Reporting Requirements Effective November 1, 2018, organizations are required to notify the Office of the Privacy Commissioner (OPC) and affected individuals of “a breach of security safeguards” involving personal information under the organization’s control where it is reasonable to believe the breach creates a “real risk of significant harm” to such individuals. Learn about mandatory breach reporting under the Personal Information Protection and Electronic Documents Act [PIPEDA], the new OPC breach reporting guidelines, and practical legal and communications guidance for responding to breach incidents.	Janine MacNeil (McMillan LLP) and Robyn Osgood (McMillan Vantage Policy Group)
11:15 am - 12:00 pm	Keynote Presentation: EU’s General Data Protection Regulations (GDPR) and its implications for Canadian Businesses You’ve heard that Europe’s Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) took effect on May 25, 2018, but what implications does it have for Canadian organizations who process (including collect, use, disclose and store) personal data of EU citizens? While there is overlap between the GDPR and various Canadian privacy laws, we will explain what steps Canadian organizations may have to take to be GDPR compliant under this new regime.	Felix Hilgert (Osborne Clarke)
12:00 pm - 12:15 pm	Question & Answer Period
